

Instructions for COAST A9R Rechargeable Pen Light

BATTERY INSTALLATION: The Lithium Polymer rechargeable battery has not been factory installed in your new A9R. To install the battery, unscrew (counter clockwise) and remove the head of the light. Carefully plug the battery end with alignment tabs into the pin side of the lights head, taking care to align the pins with the connection on the battery. Replace the flashlight body and tighten (clockwise). Note: The alignment tabs on the battery allow installation in two different orientations. As long as the connection pins are aligned, it can be installed either way. Never force your battery into the connection pins.

CHARGING: To charge your A9R, simply slip the Pro Flex Charging Cap over the head of the and attach to power. When the light is fully inserted, the charging indication light on the Charging Cap will glow. Red indicates the light is charging; Green indicates the light is fully charged. The A9R can be charged using AC, DC or USB power. To use the AC or DC adaptor, plug the USB connector into the desired power adaptor. To charge using USB, simply plug directly into a USB port. Prior to first use, charge the battery inside the A9R until the indicator light on the Pro Flex Charging Cap turns GREEN. The A9R features overcharge protection and it is not necessary to disconnect from power when fully charged.

CAUTION: Charge the battery INSIDE the A9R only. Use only the proprietary battery that is included in your A9R. Do not attempt to replace the battery with aftermarket batteries. Do not dispose of in fire or short circuit the battery.

LIGHT ACTIVATION: To turn the light on, fully press and release the power switch at the end of the light, opposite the LED. To turn the light off, fully press and release the power switch a second time. The light can be operated in momentary mode by partially depressing the switch.

MAINTENANCE: Wipe the external body with a damp cloth. Do not submerge. The rechargeable battery can be re-charged up to 500 times before a noticeable decline in performance.
